Here we give some examples of the noisy labels and the generated labels and their corresponding dice coefficients from PROMISE12. We could notice that these noisy labels usually contain more information than corresponding generated labels and thus the model could benefit more from them.

